MAY/JUNE 2001

'Pageant of Nations' on Parade May 6

May 6 promises to be a full and exciting day for residents of Wheeling and surrounding communities. That's the date of the Village's 2nd annual "Pageant of Nations." The multicultural festival will be held from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. on the playing field next to Village Hall at 255 W. Dundee Rd.

"We're excited about the growth of the festival from last year until this year," said Bill Maloney, chair of the Human Rights Commission, which hosts the event. "It will be bigger and better, with the addition of a number of crafts people displaying handmade merchandise from many countries."

More than two dozen craft vendors will be on hand. Six entertainment acts will represent the Americas, Africa, Europe, the Middle East and India (see adjacent story). Five area restaurants are expected to serve up ethnic cuisines from around the world.

The Indian Trails Public Library staff will help children make crafts reflecting traditions from around the world, and the children will receive their own "passport" with flag stamps representing those countries. Parents will be able to register for library cards for themselves and their children.

Election Creates Changes on Board

President Greg Klatecki, Village Clerk Elaine Simpson, and Trustee Trevor Lehmann won their re-election bids in the April 6 Village election. They will be joined by two new board members: Plan Commission Chair Dean Argiris and businessman Michael Horcher. All will serve four-year terms, beginning May 7.

Dean Argiris

Michael Horcher

Trevor Lehmann

Klatecki received 2043 votes. Simpson, who ran unopposed, had 2415 votes cast for her. Lehmann collected 1599 votes, Argiris picked up 1429, and Horcher received 1159.

For more information on elected officials, go to the Wheeling Website at www.vi.wheeling.il.us.

The Pageant of Nations will be preceded by a 5K Fun Run, Family Walk and Kids' Dash, which will begin and end near the festival site (see story on page 2).

"This is a great opportunity for residents of Wheeling and the surrounding communities to come together, learn about the traditions of many cultures, and have a lot of fun to boot," said Maloney.

The festival, which is sponsored by the Village of Wheeling, Indian Trails Public Library District, and the Wheeling Park District, is free of charge.

Anyone interested in participating in Wheeling's "Run Around the World," May 6, can register in advance online at www.chicagoevents.com

'Brazil, Brazil' to Headline Festival

"Brazil, Brazil," a high-energy South American band, will kick off a day of entertainment at Wheeling's forthcoming "Pageant of Nations" multicultural festival, May 6.

The trio, playing keyboard, bass guitar and various percussion instruments, celebrates Brazilian rhythms with the samba, bossa nova, baião and the lambada. They will take to the festival stage at 11 a.m.

Starting at noon, Shreeyash Palshikar will amaze his audience with a display of traditional Hindu magic. Shreeyash has performed widely in the Chicago area and elsewhere. He has spent extensive time studying the work of street magicians in India.

An hour later, at 1 p.m., the Johnny Wagner Band will appear. The group incorporates many traditional and contemporary German polkas and other songs. Yodeling from the Alps will punctuate the band's performance.

Dahui, a west African drum band, will make its second appearance at the "Pageant of Nations" at 2 p.m. Well received in 2000, Dahui specializes in an energetic, audience-involving performance sure to bring people clapping to their feet.

Taksim West will appear at 3 p.m. The group blends a mix of Middle Eastern rhythms with traditional Spanish folk songs and a touch of contemporary jazz. Taksim West performs on keyboard, saxophone and clarinet, the oud, an ancient Persian instrument described as the "grandfather of the guitar," and the dumbek, a small, Egyptian hand-held drum whose origin dates to Biblical times.

The festival's last act, Danzas Ceremoniales de Mexico will take the stage at 4 p.m., wearing costumes reflecting the pre-Hispanic traditions of central Mexico. The dancers' movements, accentuated by drums, beads and rattles, represent elements in nature, deities and sacred actions.

"We want to present an event that will involve, entertain and educate festival goers," said Bill Maloney, who chairs the Human Rights Commission. "All of these outstanding entertainment groups will do just that."

Next Up: July 4th and 'Taste'

The Wheeling Special Events Committee is finalizing plans for the annual Taste of Wheeling and July 4th celebration. The "Taste" will begin at noon and remain open as long as hungry people want to eat, but no later than 11 p.m.

An expanded schedule of games for the kids will be hosted by the Wheeling Rotary Club, the Knights of Columbus, Amvets and the Jaycees. Other features to please the family encompass a magic act, cartoon art, clowns and face painting.

The Wheeling Police Department's Safe Communities Program will staff a booth emphasizing bicycle and scooter safety. Registrars will be on hand to help fair-goers register to vote.

Entertainment this year will begin with Melodies in Motion with Greg Koeppen, who will open the Taste. Featured entertainers include Jimmy and the Mauds band, the big-band sound of Larry Bemben's orchestra, and Jake and the Boys.

The food offerings will be expanded to include Wa-Pa-Ghetti's, Mr. E's, Golden Chef, Taste of Hunan, Hackney's, Bob Chinn's Crabhouse, Joe's Pizza, and Sauer's Bakery. Seniors representing the Pavilion Senior Center will sell ice cream. Amvets will offer cotton candy and popcorn.

Corus Bank, Hoyne Savings, North American Jet and Bill Stasek Chevrolet are sponsoring Taste of Wheeling.

The annual July 4th parade will begin at 6 p.m. with the launch of hundreds of balloons at Village Hall. Twenty floats are anticipated, along with numerous marching units. The Shriners motorcycle cavalcade will again be a featured unit in the parade.

The day's activities will end at dusk with fireworks over Heritage Park. A comprehensive lineup of the day's activities will be published in the next issue of Village Views.

Update: Boards & Commissions

Economic Development Sets Sights on Fastest-Growing Firms in Area

With a plan that strikes a good balance between enticing new prospects to the Village while retaining current business, Wheeling's Economic Development Commission is targeting businesses on Crain's Chicago Business' "fastest growing public firms" list to develop a framework for future business development.

Meanwhile, the Commission has taken out ads in the upcoming Chicago Industrial Properties' Metro Chicago Business Parks Guide, promoting available buildings and sites around Wheeling, and continues to correspond with prospects for the Kimball Hill commercial site on Milwaukee Ave.

EDC also continues its relationships with several key prospects, including a printing company, ethnic grocery, paper company and a Wheeling business interested in expanding its current operations.

Board of Health Completes Blood/Bone Marrow Drive

Residents turned out to support the Board of Health's Blood and Bone Marrow Drives at the Fire Department, March 14. The drive collected 47 units of blood for LifeSource Bloodbank to support area hospitals.

Staff also collected 35 blood samples for bone marrow analysis. A single tube of blood contains markers that provide compatibility information about a person's marrow. These donors were entered into the National Bone Marrow Program Database, which doctors use to identify potential donors in times of emergency.

Wheeling Trustee Receives 'Woman of Achievement' Award

Trustee Judy Abruscato has been named to receive the Illinois Lieutenant Governor's Woman of Achievement Award. The honor was bestowed at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees. She was nominated for the award by Village President Greg Klatecki.

Trustee Abruscato was recognized for "many years of public service and her involvement in community activities." A resident of the Village for 33 years, she has served as a trustee for the last 14 years. She is recognized for spearheading a revival of the annual July 4th parade and fireworks. She also was key to developing the Taste of Wheeling food fest, also held on July 4th, and the November "Festival of Lights."

Trustee Abruscato is also behind other community events, such as the annual "Dance into Spring" at Chevy Chase Country Club and the community Spaghetti Dinner held in the spring. She is manager of the local branch of Corus Bank. Born in Chicago, Trustee Abruscato lives in Wheeling with her husband, Mario, and is the mother of a son, Anthony, and a daughter, Valerie. She has two grandchildren.

Asked about her community involvement, Trustee Abruscato said, "I love giving to the community. After all, if we don't give to where we live, we don't get what we want."

Can You Spare Some Time?

Omni Youth Services, which operates the Wheeling Community Resource Center, is looking for a few good volunteers for its Parent Mentor Program. Volunteers reach out to a parent facing personal or family difficulties to establish a supportive relationship. Parents and volunteers work to improve parenting skills, increase self-esteem and reach educational goals. Parents waiting for a volunteer match range in age from 15-59. Contact Kristi at 353-1712.

The Changing Face of Wheeling

As the face of the Village has evolved, some long-time fixtures have disappeared or are about to. The century-old Union Hotel was razed five years ago to make way for the Union Commons townhomes.

Now another familiar sight, Wheeling Nursery, is targeted for redevelopment. When the owners decided to call it quits after 50 years in the business, 24 acres of prime real estate entered the market. A current proposal would convert that property to townhomes, condominiums and commercial business developed in concert with the residential development.

Down the street and around the corner, the recent completion of River Mill Crossing adds another 272 residential units. On the other side of town, on Old McHenry Rd., a local developer is building Park Point, an 88-unit condominium-townhouse project.

The advent of "upscale" housing offers the prospect that similar commercial businesses will follow to serve a population interested in contemporary goods and services.

Many of the businesses already in town were attracted there by the Village's transportation outlets. Palwaukee Airport, a key attraction for businesses, is just one of Wheeling's transportation corridors. With extensive freight traffic flowing along the Wisconsin Central Railroad, the Village provides easy inflow of raw materials and fast off-loading of finished products to markets around the world.

Hundreds of residents and workers use the Metra commuter trains serving Wheeling between Antioch and Chicago. Current plans call for the expansion of the line from one set of tracks to two. The new tracks, when fully funded, will double daily the commuter capacity – from 10 trains to at least 20.

When the Doors Swing Open: Wheeling to Hold Open House, May 5

The Village of Wheeling will open all the doors on May 5 to give residents a look behind the scenes at how the various departments function. The open house will last from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. It promises variety, information and a glimpse at the day-to-day workings of the Village's operation centers.

Fire Department. Firefighters will demonstrate how they cut up an automobile and extricate people during an emergency. One of the area's Flight for Life Helicopters is scheduled for touchdown behind Village Hall. ComEd will display its Electric Safety Town to demonstrate the dangers of climbing on power towers.

Firefighter-paramedics will conduct tours of department equipment, including an ambulance, fire trucks and the airport crash truck.

Police Department. All areas of the department will be open, including the firing range and holding cells. Visitors can have their fingerprints taken on the department's digital fingerprint scanner. Numerous demonstrations will take place, including evidence gathering and recovery and bicycle safety checks.

Metra will present its Operation Lifesaver program to provide information and videos about train safety.

Illinois State Police will demonstrate their "rollover vehicle," which consists of a semi-truck and trailer with a sport utility vehicle inside. The exhibit will show what happens to a vehicle's occupants in the event of a rollover.

Police exhibits will include a static car safety-seat display, fatal vision goggles, and the traffic patrol's motorcycles.

Health Fair. Also scheduled during the open house will be a health fair organized by the Village Health Department and Board of Health. Plans call for a variety of exhibits, including blood-pressure screening and information booths providing information pertinent to family health.

Public Works Department. All road equipment, including snowplows and the video-equipped vehicle used to check for blockages and breaks in sewer lines will be on display. Children are welcome to climb into the driver's seat of each vehicle.

network of major state highways provide easy access for truck haulers.

With so much infrastructure in place, what's next? Village President Greg Klatecki looks to the north side of town. "Now that the Ram Restaurant and Brew Pub is established, other businesses will be attracted there. I see a push to spruce up the area and make it a focal place in the Village. I see more restaurants, too. We have a strong industrial base, but we need to work on property on the north and west of town.

"We need to attract empty nesters to places like One Milwaukee Place [currently nearing completion at Dundee Rd. and Milwaukee Ave.]," says Klatecki. "When we achieve a better balance of housing, we're going to attract new residents who can help contribute to the future well-being of the Village."

Village Population Takes a Jump

Everyone who has been in Wheeling for a few years knows the Village has been gaining population. But when the 2000 census figures were released, the summary came as something of a surprise.

Total population jumped from 29,911 in 1990 to 34,496 in 2000. This represents a 15.3 percent increase.

The Hispanic community grew to 7,135 in the 10-year period. Total Hispanics from all origins now comprise 20.66 percent of the total population. "Hispanics," as defined by the U.S. Census Bureau, includes people who are white, black or African American, American Indian, Alaska Natives, and those from Hawaii and other Pacific islands.

The Asian community is growing as well. There are 3,183 non-Hispanic Asians living here now. They comprise 9.23 percent of the total.

"These figures reflect the growing diversity and expanding population of Wheeling," said Village President Greg Klatecki. "We can expect the trend to continue, and we are planning for future growth."

What's Going On?

That's the question many residents were asking before they subscribed to the Village's Electronic News Service. This free service provides agendas for the weekly Board of Trustees meetings, news releases and information about Village activities sent directly to subscribers' e-mail addresses. To subscribe, go to the Village Web site at vi.wheeling.il.us. Then click on Village Services/Finance and Administration. At the top of the page, click on Electronic News Service. Diversion Channel Construction Begins

The Village of Wheeling and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) recently broke ground on the William Rogers Memorial Diversion Channel. The ceremony marked the culmination of extensive planning for the project, which is designed as a supplemental discharge route to the Wheeling drainage ditch for rare, extraordinarily heavy rainstorms.

Village President Greg Klatecki and State Conservationist William J. Gradle of the USDA Natural Resource Conservation Service break ground for the William Rogers Memorial Diversion Channel.

The $2.4 million dollar project is being funded largely by NRCS. Currently targeted for completion this fall, the 7,200-foot channel will be 70 feet wide at its widest. It will be capable of handling a water flow of 800 cubic feet per minute.

The channel will be of earthen construction, with no concrete along the route except for culverts passing beneath roadbeds. It will start at the Wheeling drainage ditch north of Dundee Rd. and east of the railroad and meander northeast before spilling into the Des Plaines River. Some of the soil excavated from the channel will be used to build up its sidewalls. The remainder will be sold or disposed of.

The William Rogers Memorial Diversion Channel is named for the former Village trustee who foresaw the need to protect residents from storm water and spearheaded the channel's development.

Briefs & Announcements

SWANCC Opens the House

The Solid Waste Agency of Northern Cook County (SWANCC) will hold its annual open house at the Glenview Transfer Station on Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Visitors will see:

- SWANCC's 2001 "Art of Garbage" display made up of more than 100 collages and drawings by children in the area.
- The Recycle House exhibit.
- Stationary plastic and steel can recycling.
- An environmental exhibit built by a Glenview teacher called "Who Trashed My Room?" It is an eight-piece exhibit of bedroom furniture made from discarded wood pallets, old packing crates and dimensional waste lumber from community building sites.

The transfer station is located at Three Providence Drive in Glenview, which is off Milwaukee Ave. across from Maryville Academy.

Keep the Right of Way Clear

Kids on bicycles and bargain hunters scouring garage sales are two common sights during warmer months. Both present questions about parked cars. Village ordinance prohibits blocking any sidewalk with a motor vehicle between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. Doing so could result in a citation.

Garage sales often attract crowds that usually arrive in cars. While no permit is required to hold a garage sale, rules about parking and signage do apply. Be sure to tell your neighbors about the date and time of the sale, and during the sale keep an eye out to ensure that visitors don't block any driveways.

Garage sale advertising signs are to be kept on private property (with property-owner permission). Signs displayed on trees, fences, utility poles or street corners will be removed.

Residents who want to discard unwanted items should contact Waste Management Northwest at 800/964-8988 for disposal. Usable items also may be donated to Amvets, 708/388-7800. A brochure containing guidelines for garage sales is available at the Wheeling Community Development Department, 111 S. Northgate Pkwy. Phone 459-2620.

Fun at the Fun Faire

The Pavilion Senior Center will echo with the sounds of "Going once, going twice..." at its 11th Annual "Fun Faire," Saturday, June 2, 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Both live and silent auctions will take place. Also on the schedule are a home bakery, a luncheon bar, a rummage sale and the return of the Pocket Lady. Raffles and an arts-and-crafts fair will help keep things lively for all – families, singles, couples.

Village to Upgrade Streets, Sidewalks, Water Mains

The Wheeling Public Works Department plans to upgrade a number of Village streets, sidewalks and water mains during the current construction year. All of the projects are ongoing activities and are included in the department's five-year Capital Improvement Plan.

Streets

The Village's street-improvement program will see resurfacing, reconstruction and improvements made on 6.7 miles of local streets, beginning in early May. Thirty-one streets are involved. The combined projects will cost $1,370,000.

Also this year the Cook County Highway Department will resurface Schoenbeck Rd. The $1 million project will span almost the entire length of Schoenbeck from Camp McDonald to Dundee Rds. Crews also will make drainage improvements.

Construction is expected to start by late June and be completed by late September or early October. The project will require intermittent lane closures controlled by flagmen during the day. Both lanes will be open at night.

A second Cook County project will entail major work on Lake-Cook Road between Arlington Heights Rd. and Lexington Dr. The first phase of construction will begin on the outside lanes after July 4th and continue until Labor Day. The second phase will begin after the holiday, with early November targeted for completion. Construction will involve lane closures and result in major delays.

Sidewalks

The Road and Bridge Division will remove and replace defective sidewalk squares throughout the Village. The $100,000 project list for 2001 marks the fourth year of the sidewalk-replacement program. While the effort is Village-wide, this year it will focus on the Poplar Grove, Babiarez and Hollywood Ridge subdivisions.

Water Mains

The Water Division will replace water mains in the Dunhurst I and II subdivisions. The $1.7 million project continues a 15-year program begun in 1999 to replace older cast-iron pipe with longer-lasting ductile iron pipe. The work is expected to be under way by early May and will continue through late fall.
